highly accurate
& frangible

We are proud to introduce to you a new revolutionary, lead free and highly accurate frangible ammunition. This ammunition has been used by special Government agencies for over ten years and it is now available to determined hunters in most popular hunting calibers.

DRT's™ lead free centerfire ammunition is designed to out-perform all other ammunition, whether related to accuracy, reliability or terminal ballistics and it is environmentally friendly.

DRT™ cartridges are carefully made using precision manufacturing processes under rigid specifications. All components are match grade and are individually selected for quality before being incorporated into the ammunition. All components are lot-tested whether they are primers for consistent ignition, brass for consistent pressure, powder for consistent burn or other components; all to ensure only the best product and performance.
